

Case Study: Cyber Security Training

The Client

Our client is an asset manager with offices around the world. They manage $4 billion USD of assets under management with around 200 members of staff.

The Challenge

Working with our client, we identified a need for Cyber Security training for their team. Having already invested heavily in Cyber Security solutions to keep their business secure, it was identified that their team was also in need of training.

Due to the dispersed nature of their team, they wanted an online training platform that could be rolled out to each of their locations as well as follow-up testing and central reporting.

The Solution

Following careful research, we partnered with a leading Cyber Security training specialist to meet the pre-requisites of the project. Drawing on our partner's extensive expertise and experience in this area, we worked closely with them to deliver a detailed training programme that was completely in line with our client's brief. Additional content was created in some areas to meet the specific needs of their market place.

Multiple courses were developed and delivered to our client's staff, including automated centralised reporting to their compliance department. New staff were automatically enrolled on the training course and given a deadline by when the training material needed to be completed.

Follow-up phishing testing of all staff was also deployed, bringing positive results and excellent feedback from our client. If any employee failed the testing, they were automatically re-enrolled on the relevant training programme.

As well as the online training, Abacus developed a monthly newsletter that was sent out to everyone within the organisation, detailing all threats that had been observed during the previous month along with several tips for keeping our client's data safe and secure.

- Increased their employees' knowledge of cyber security measures
- Raised the importance of maintaining tight Cyber Security
